SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS IN HENRY WARD BEECHER'S CHURCH

A recent number of the New York Herald contains the following account of demonstrations made in Mr. Beecher's church. The statement was made to the Herald Reporter by a member of the church:

"There have been involuntary seances at the Plymouth church for a few weeks past, and the developments have been interesting in the extreme, for the reason that there was no deception. No sane person could possibly desire to get up an excitement surrounded by a serious circle of sober Congregationalist deacons and directors under Mr. Beecher's nose."

'Go on; this is getting interesting.'

'You know there are three reporters' tables standing against Mr. Beecher's platform. The middle table, directly in line with Mr. Beecher, is an innocent looking affair of pine, stained to imitate black walnut. Some four or five weeks previous to Mr. Beecher's summer vocation, I noticed an unusual commotion in the little circle of reporters, and as I had been seated by the usher in a chair very near their table, I could not avoid seeing all that was going on. Mr. Beecher was in the middle of his long presermon prayer. As he uttered the words, 'Let the whole earth learn the power of love,' such as brought Christ to the earth, to die for man,' the table moved slowly and deliberately towards one of the ladies, and pushed so violently against her arm that she was obliged to move back. Then it moved as deliberately to the lady opposite. You should have seen the faces of the reporters. They had evidently seen table moving before, but not prepared for a seance in front of the immense congregation of Plymouth Church. Their eyes said plainly, What shall we do if that table keeps moving?' But keep moving it did, back and forth, with a slow monotonous slide till the prayer was finished, and then it gave three emphatic taps by the way of 'amen.' 'No doubt edly somebody up stairs indorses Beecher,' said I to myself, my eye still on the table. Then the hymn was given out. It was about adverse winds, and cares and troubles, but each stanza closed with this line—

As my day my strength shall be.

When that line was sung the table tipped so that the pencils lying upon it rolled to the flour, and the reporters, who had evidently forgotten the sprits for a moment in the music, gave a little start and a look of horror that to lookers on was irresistibly comic. They controlled themselves perfectly, however, and took their paper upon hyian books in their laps and began to write. Meaning to do their best, they all moved back, so that not the hem of a garment touched the table. They even laid their gloves upon a projecting rim of the platform. Mr. Beecher preached one of his most radical sermons that day. He spoke of the power of brotherhood and of the love that hopeth all things, believeth all things, endureth all things. He spoke of the cruelty of society in its prisons and all its disciplinary machinery, and deplored that self sacrificing love alone could regenerate the world. The table seemed alive. At the very point where a radical reformer would have wished to have applauded, the table would run with great force toward one reporter and than travel to the opposite one, as if to say, 'That's so; that is the truth.' That the table was not touched by even the reporters raiment during the sermon I would take my oath before any court in the country.'

'How long did this go on?'

'Until the church closed for the summer and one or two Sundays after the reopening'

'How do you account for it?'

'I suppose the reporters all to be more or less mediumistic.'

'What do you mean by mediumistic?'

'So organized that spirits can penetrate their atmosphere. Mr. Beecher has the same organization, only in a greater degree, and he stood where he could form a part op the circle. There were well known Spiritualists in the neighborhood, and the conditions were right for manifestations.'

'You never heard any rappings there?'

'Yes, once. During the whole of one sermon there were low but distinct raps, not in the table, but in the platform. Mr. Beecher must have heard them if he had not been so earnestly engaged in his sermon.'

'How do you account for the cessations of the manifestations?'

'The thing was attracting so much attention that the reporerts had decided to leave the table and sit separately in the audience it it went on, and I suppose (of course I don't expect you to agree) that their spirit friends didn't wish to annoy them, and so they restrained their wish to communicate. For my own part, I am unable to understand the difficulty which people have in believing these things. The Bible is full of spiritualism. The Old and New Testaments speak constantly of angels appearing and of devils possessing. It is no new thing, and the sensible plan is to take the gold, if any is found after patient, scientific investigation, and throw aside the dross. It is for the philosophers to get out the wheat least the weak swallow husk and all, and great mischief be done.'

FACTS ABOUT CENTRAL ASIA.

The publications of the Royal Geographical Society of London, to May, 1871, have been issued in volume XL, and give us very interesting statistics from Central Asia.

Mr G. W. Hayward penetrated from Cashmir to Seh, the capital of Ladak, and then crossed the pass in the Himalaya range and fonnd that region elevated from thirteen to eighteen thousand feet above the level of the sea, from which rise snowy ranges of mountains which continue north into Russian territory as far as latitude 55 degrees. His route was over and on the east side of this range.

Baron Osten Sacken took his departure from Varnoe, on the borders of Russia and the Chinese empire, crossed the snowy Thian Shan range west of lake Issek-kul, and surveyed to within twenty miles of the city of Kashgar, the north limit of Mr. Hayward's survey.

Mr. Fedchenky, of the Russian scientific corps, made a topographical survey of the Zarafshan valley and river, which run to the west and pass Samarkand. They determined Khotan to be in latitude 57 degrees 8 minutes N. and longitude 79 degrees 28 minutes E.

Yarkand to be in latitude 38 degrees 21 minutes N. and longitude 77 degrees 28 minutes E.

Kashgar to be in latitude 39 degrees 25 minutes N. and longitude 76 degrees 10 minutes E.

Samarkand to be in latitude 39 degrees 40 minutes N. and longitude 67 degrees E.

These surveys fix definitely in our maps an unknown country, heretofore known as Little Bokhara, Chinese Tartary and Eastern Turkistan, the waters from which run into the Oxus, Naryn and Sarafshan rivers, to the west, which enter the Caspian and Ural seas, and to the Kashgar and Yonkand rivers, which flow into lake Loq, in Central China.

The range of mountains, which extends from India to Russian Siberia, is of great height. Hayward, in May, counted from a height near Kashgar sixty three snowy peaks in sight at one time; and the streams are mainly from the melting of snow in May, June, July and August, running through a country highly cultivated, under the great system of irrigation of any part of the world, with an industrious, hardy people, who live in great comfort. The products of the country are various and abundant. Wheat of two descriptions is produced, one sown in September, and the other in April; rice, barley, Indian corn, four kinds of oil seeds in abundance, clover, turnips, carrots, onions. Cotton of a fair description is produced in large quantities and manufactured into material for native wear, or exported to Khokand and Russia. The fruit crops consist of the pear, apple, apricot, almond, peach, walnut, while the vine is cultivated, the yield from which is excellent. The mulbery is everywhere seen. The principal exports to India and Cashmir are cloths, silk, shawl, wool, etc. Khotan produces excellent carpets, silk in large quantities' etc. The animals are the horse, two humped camel, ox, ass, sheep and shawl wool goat."

Mr. Hayward gives the names of forty six towns and villages. Yarkand contains 40,000 houses—is the capital of eastern Turkistan, is 3,830 feet above the level of the sea—160 mosques, many schools, 12 caravansaries which are always crowded with merchants from every part of Asia; the city is surrounded with a fortified wall from forty to forty five feet in height and is entered by five gates. Kashgar contains 28,000 houses. Porgam contains 16,000 houses. Karghalik contains 20,000 houses; and the country contains a population of several millons.

The people are Mohammedans of the Tartar Uzbeg race, and are governed by a military adventurer whose title is Mohammed Yakoob Beg, the Atalik Ghazee, the ruler of eastern Turkistan—who is now forty five years old.

The Russians have possession of west of the mountains, including Samarkand.

THE COLD-WATER BOY.

Behold a table with boiled turkey and ham, with vegetables nicely cooked, and gravies rich and juicy. There sits a father at its head and the mother opposite, and guests are seated on either side; there is no lack of good humor and merry jest to give spice to conversation.

There are children, too; a boy of ten and a little girl of eight. They listen intelligently and attentively to the remarks of parents and guests, look up into the faces of one another with interest. Behold! decanters are brought in; glasses are filled, and one another sip the sparkling wine.

'Excellent!' exclaimed one, smacking his lips. 'Fine!' echoed another, with glass refilled.

'Shall I drink wine with you my lad?' asked one of the gentlemen, bowing to the boy.

'Is not your glass filled, William?' asked the father. 'John, fill William's glass,' turning to the servant. Slowly did William turn up his glass to receive the fiery liquor.

'Drink with this gentleman, my dear,' wispered his mother, encouragingly. The boy blushed and cast down his eyes, but he obeyed not. Was he frightened? Was he diffident?

'My son, did you hear Mr. Black address you?' said the father quickly and sternly.

Accustomed to obey his father's slightest wish, the boy's lip quivered, but he obeyed not.

In a moment, raising his eyes and looking his father full in the face, he said mantully:

'Father, I am a soldier in the Cold Water Army, and I can't drink wine.'

'Brave boy!' exclaimed one of the gentlemen, setting down his glass.

'The Cold Water Army must conquor if every soldier stands his ground as well,' said another, regarding William with respect.

'We will have to excuse you, my son,' said the father in a softened voice and though they sat long at the table, his glass was not again raised to his lips. There it stood untasted and full. Yes, the cold water ranks can boast of other soldiers as brave as William.

Stand firm, my boys; let no one beat you from the ground. Be up and doing! Intemperance is stealing about, seeking whom it may devour. Break his weapons, destroy his engines, give him no quarter.

'Cold water! Cold water!'

Let this shout of trimnph be heard all over the land, from the city to hamlet, from mountain and glen.

Cold water! cold water and victory!—Young Pilgrim.

MYSTERY.

With respect to mystery, everything we behold is, in one sense, a mystery to us. Our own existence is a mystery; the whole vegetable world, is a mystery. We cannot account how it is that an acorn, when put into the grounnd, is made to develop itself, and become an oak. We know not how it is that the seed we sow unfolds and multiplies itself, and returns to us such an abundant interest for so small a capital.

The fact, however, as distinct from the operating cause, is not a mystery, because we see it; and we know also the means we are to use, which is no other than putting seed into the ground. We know, therefore, as much as is necessary to know, and that part of the operation that we do not know, and which if we did we could not perform, the Creator takes upon himself and performs it for us. We are, therefore, better off than if we had been let into the secret, and left to do it for ourselves.

But though every created thing is, in this sense, a mystery, the word mystery cannot be applied to moral truth, any more than obscurity can be applied to light. The God in whom we believe is a God of moral truth, and not a God of mystery or obscurity. Mystery is the antagonist of truth. It is a fog of human invention, that obscures truth, and represents it in distortion. Truth never envelopes itself in mystery; and the mystery in which it is at any time enveloped is the work of its antagonist, and never of itself.

Religion, therefore, being the belief of a God, and the practice of moral truth, cannot have connection with mystery. The belief of a God, so far from having anything of mystery in it, is of all beliefs the most easy, because it arises to us, as is before observed, out of necessity. And the practice of moral truth, or, in other words, a practical imitation of the moral goodness of God, is no other than our acting toward each other as he acts benignly toward all. We cannot serve God in the manner we serve those who cannot do without such service; and, therefore, the only idea we can have of serving God, is that of contributing to the happiness of the living creation that God has made. This cannot be done by retiring ourselves from the society of the world, and living a recluse life in selfish devotion.

The very nature and design of religion, if I may so express it, prove even to demonstration, that it must be free from everything of mystery, and unencumbered with everything that is mysterious. Religion, considered as a duty, is incumbent upon every living soul alike, and, therefore, must be on a level to the understanding and comprehension of all. Man does not learn religion as he learns the secrets and mysteries of a trade. He learns the theory of religion by reflection. It arises out of the action of his mind upon the things which he sees, or upon what he may happen to hear or to read, and the practice joins itself thereto.

When men, whether from policy or pious fraud, set up systems of religion incompatible with the word or works of God in the creation, and not only above but repugnant to human comprehension, they were under the necessity of inventing or adopting a word that should serve as a bar to all questions, inquiries, and speculations. The word mystery answered this purpose and thus it has happened that religion, which in itself is without mystery, has been corrupted into a fog of mysteries.

'Mother,' said a little girl who was engaged in making her doll an apron, 'I believe I will be a duchess when I grow up.' How do you ever expect to become a duchess, my dear?' her mother asked. 'Why, by marrying a Dutchman, to be sure,' replied the girl.

THE ANT-EATER.

The great ant eater about the size of a large dog, is often described as most stupid, the chief evidence being that the animal cannot run very fast, the peculiar form of the feet preventing rapid motion. But as the creature is not intended to be a racer, it is as unreasonable to call it dull on this ground as it would be to term men fools because they are unable to fly. Let us watch the mode in which the ant eater obtains a dinner, and then say how, with its peculiar structure, it could act more intelligently. The reader will bear in mind that this animal, sometimes called the ant bear, has no teeth, but possesses a long muzzle, an extensible tongue, and powerful claws. Now in what manner shall the animal obtain his food? It cannot masticate vegetables; to tear and rend fleshy substances is still more out of the question. But in the wide plains of South America the white ants swarm, and erect their mound like nests in hundreds on the swampy savannahs. The ant eater knows that these hills contain his only possible food; but how shall he capture enough of such insects to make a dinner for himself? He has his weapons and he knows how to use them. The animal approaches an ant hill; the mud walls of the insect nest are baked by the tropical sun into a dry and stone like mass; but the ant eater quickly scratches a hole in the side with his powerful hook like claws. When the breach is made, the enraged ants pour out to inflict punishment on the invader of their home. This is precisely what the ant eater wants. No sooner do the irritated insects swarm out beyond the opening than the cunning assailant lengthens his elastic tongue, and projecting it far beyond the end of his mouth, draws the organ over the thick crowd of ants. Hundreds stick to the glutinous tongue, and are instantly swallowed. The clever operation is repeated again and again, until the ant eater is satisfied with his dinner, when he soberly retreats to his hole, and goes to sleep. The reader will not, we think, be able to point out any blunder in the whole of this proceeding. The suitable food is sought in the proper place, and it is obtained in the only way possible. The ant eater must be aware that his tongue is covered with gummy fluid which not only takes up the ants, but protects the organ from the bites of the insects. Were time allowed to the ants, they would soon extricate themselves or at least pierce through the thin glutinous coating of the tongue. Their foe seems perfectly aware of this, and accordingly retracts his elastic organ with such rapidity, that in the space of one second it is twice drawn into the mouth covered with ants. We must admit that the ant eater uses his special tools well—that is to say, with intelligence.

The La Crosse Daily Republican, Jan. 9, says: A few years ago a man was living with his young wife in Mankato, Minn. He was intelligent and successful in business, until the passion for drink enslaved him, and his business and reputation were both wrecked by its satanic influence. He was forced to seek a new home for his little family, and his wife, bred to luxury, accompanied him to the frontier in hope that the removal from temptation would free him from the grip of the habit which cursed him. Here they lived for several years, his abstinence from drink being broken only by an infrequent and occasional debauch when he visited some of the nearest towns. Early in December he told his wife that business compelled him to go to ——, and that he would be gone for several days. She, about to be confined, with several helpless children and a scanty supply of wood, fearing that the insatiate clamor of appetite was the motive which drew him away entreated him to stay, but in vain. He left. Soon after one of those severe snow storms of December—doubly severe on the unsheltered prairie—came on. Before its close she was entirely destitute of wood, and the terrible alternative was presented to her of passively freezing to death with her little ones, or seeking assistance from the nearest neighbor, over three miles distant. She courageously chose the latter, and leaving her three shivering little ones, with nothing but a mother's yearning love and prayerful blessing, she started out to seek relief. The next day she was found, half buried in the snow dead, a new born baby at her side. The children was found dead in the house. This, while the once protecting father and husband was away revelling in the delerium or dozing away in the stupor of drink. No words can add to the horror of this tale, but beside the unspeakable agony of that wife and mother, how trivial our common losses, griefs and sorrows seem.

The Alliance Local says—In view of the probable passage of the bill providing for a constitutional convention, at no distant day, we hear the name of Robert H. Folger, Esq., of Massillon, very favorably spoken of as a delegate thereto. From the reputation which Mr. Folger sustains for soundness on political questions, as well as his general knowledge of the principles of Government, we would think this a very appropriate appointment.

HONOR YOUR BUSINESS.

It is a good sign when a man is proud of his work or calling. Yet nothing is more common than to hear men finding fault with their particular business, and deeming themselves unfortunate because fastened to it by the necessity of gaining a livelihood. In this men fret, and laboriously destroy all their comfort in the work, or they change their business and go on miserably, shifting from one thing to another till the grave or the poorhouse gives them a fist grip. But while occasionally a man fails in life because he is not in the place fitted for his peculiar talent, it happens ten times oftener that failure results from neglect and even contempt of an honest business. A man should put his heart into everything that he does. There is no profession that has not its peculiar cares and vexations. No man will escape annoyance by changing his business. No mechanical business is altogether agreeable. Commerce, in its endless varieties, is affected, like all other pursuits, with trials, unwelcome duties, and spirit tiring necessities. It is the very wantonness of folly for a man to search out the frets and burdens of his calling, and give his mind every day to a consideration of them. They belong to human life. They are inevitable. Brooding over them only gives them strength. On the other hand, man has power even to shed beauty and pleasure on the honest toil, if he is wise. Let a man adopt his business and identify it with pleasant associations; for heaven has given us imagination not alone to make us poets, but to enable all men to beautify homely things. Heart varnish will cover up innumerable evils and defects. Look at the good things. Accept your lot as a man does a piece of rugged ground, and begin to get out the rocks and roots, to deepen and mellow the soil to enrich and plant it. There is some thing in the most forbidding avocation around which a man may twine pleasant fancies, out of which he may develop an honest pride.

PURE WATER.

The value of pure water as a sanitary agent, cannot be well overestimated. Especially should great care be bestowed upon the selection of the water that is used for drinking and cooking, and while in many cases really excellent is readily accessible, it is also the case that much of the case that much of the water that finds its way into our bodies is very unfit for that purpose.

The great evil in the case of most kinds of water is the presence of organic matter; in other words, dead and decaying animal and vegetable matter has found its way into it. In the country, where the supply of water is obtained from a spring bubbling from a hillside, and constantly changing, this difficulty does not prevail to any great extent. But in thickly peopled districts where wells are sunk beneath the surface, we often find water so impure that it produces disease.

This is especially the case where wells and cess pools are in proximity to each other. It is a generally received idea, that after water has been filtered through a thick layer of soil it becomes purified from all organic matter; and that this is true to a certain extent there can be no doubt, But it often happens that liquids highly charged with organic matter will flow through fissures in the ground for a considerable distance without losing much of their impurities.

Alderman Mechi tells us that after a heavy application of liquid manure to his fields, the drains that are situated three and four feet below the surface always discharge large volumes of highly colored liquid. If this be the case under circumstances that would seem to afford the very best conditions for perfect filtration, what must be the result where the distance that the sewerage has to pass is not very great, and where it constantly flows through the same fissures?

Mr. Wilson gave a temperance lecture in Boston, worth noticing, because he said that in congress during the last seventeen years he had found that the members who used alcohol were invariably the first to be prostrated by protracted work. 'In my experience,' he said, 'while chairman of the committee on military affairs, I always found that the men to be relied on were the men who drank not at all.' However, Mr. Wilson thought that there were fewer drinking men in Congress now than when he first went there. Formerly the night sessions were dreaded on account of the debauchery to which they gave rise. Now about one quarter of the senators are pledged temperance men, and there is not what may be called a hard drinker in the senate at all. The facts are about the same in the house of representatives. Once the departments were full of drunken men; now they are the exceptions. Coming from a source to be relied upon these are interesting and cheering facts.

Perhaps it may not be generally known, says a California paper, that acorns command a good price—$20 per ton—in Stockton, and quite a profitable business has been done by several parties by gathering acorns and disposing of them at this price. Our attention was drawn particularly to one instance of an industrious and energetic farmer, who resides in the farming district, on the west side of the San Joaquin river, who during the season gathered acorns sufficient in amount to realize money enough to pay his taxes and leave in his hands a surplus of $25, or as he expressed it, 'twenty-five dollars ahead of the hounds.' For these acorns gathered from the large trees across the river, and which are said to be of excellent quality, $20 per ton is the price readily paid by parties in this city, who use the product for fattening hogs.

Two Dollars a year, in advance.

Massillon, Wednesday, January 31.

A few days ago, Gen Butler, member of congress, from Massachusetts, presented a petition to the house of representatives, asking for congressional authority to allow women to vote, signed by 35,000 names. Of course but few are so sanguine as to expect this circumstance will have much influence on congress to grant the object sought, yet it is an unmistakable indication of the tendency of the times toward equal suffrage. 35,000 is but a small portion of the women of this country, yet even this portion is not without influence. But there are many more thousands of the same mind as the signers, and when opportunity offers they too will ask a similar favor at the hands of our national legislators. Like the importunate woman of whom we read in the scriptures, the progressive women of America will not cease to trouble even the unjust judge of their rights until they obtain the end for which they are seeking. Basing their claims, in fact, on the significant words of the great Declaration, that laws cannot justly be enacted without the consent of the governed, especially in our republican government, these petitioners will not cease to ask until their petition is granted.

Last week a woman's national convention was held at Washington, at which place measures were proposed to place their wishes before congress, asking the right of equal suffrage under the fourteenth amendment. By the reporters and papers in opposition to the movement a great shout of exultation is raised because the senate refused to grant their request. Fault is found with the manner in which the committee of ladies sought to present their claims for suffrage before that body. These representations we take for granted are all made by enemies of the movement—little if anything appears in the popular dailies from the ladies side of the question, as to how the committee demeaned themselves on the occasion. In these rejoicings of the enemies of the woman franchise it seems to be assumed that the spirit of the movement is killed off—that nothing more can be done in that direction. But a short time will elapse before their opponents will find that they are badly mistaken. In the same way false prophets killed off the anti-slavery reform, while the result proved that it was their rotten carcass which perished in the conflict. So it will be again.

We desire to call attention to the following circular, issued by the members of the G. A. R., in this city, and urge our citizens to evince such a spirit of liberality, as will insure the success of the undertaking. The circular will explain itself and apparently leaves nothing further for us to say.

Citizens of Massillon and vicinity:

We desire respectfully to call your attention to a few facts; and believing that our object will commend itself to your favorable consideration, we will proceed to explain our plan to effect the object in view.

It is, perhaps, a fact well known to you, that during the five years last past, the members of Hart Post G. A. R., of this city, have labored to secure a Lot in our Massillon Cemetery to be used as a Burial Lot for indigent Soldiers and Sailors who served in the defence of the Union, during the late war. We have, by means of Entertainments of various kinds, succeeded in procuring a suitable Lot, and enclosing it with a very fine Fence, of iron, especially designed for that purpose, at an expense of about six hundred dollars; and when Spring opens, the Lot will be further substantially ornamented, and made ready for the purpose for which it is designed to be used.

This much has been done, through the liberality of our citizens, and now we propose to secure the means to erect a suitable Monument on the Lot. We propose to build it, mainly, of Massillon white and red Sand-stone—to put it up by our own mechanics—to make it a credit to our City and vicinity: and, finally, to make it a MONUMENT TO THE PATRIOTISM that preserved our Flag, and maintained our Union unbroken. This is the object we have in view, and we appeal to you to now manifest your appreciation of our purpose, by the same measure of liberality that characterized you during the late war. Now for our plan:

We propose on the evening of WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY SEVENTH, to produce, in the Opera House, one of those attractive Military Representations of the Rebellion, entitled The Old Flag, or the Spy of Newbern; to put on the piece in the best possible manner, and to give you therefor the full value of the price of admission, and at the same time afford you an opportunity, by your presence, to assist in the erection of what you, and yours, to the latest generation, can point to, as a Monument erected by you, in commemoration of the memory of the "Patriotism that preserved us as a nation."

We ask you, therefore, to not only come to see "The Old Flag" yourself, but to see to it that your friends come also. Explain the matter as we have explained it to you and we think the result will be such as will be creditable to our community.

"THE OLD FLAG, or THE SPY OF NEWBERN," will be produced in the Opera House during the evenings of February 5th, 6th, 9th and 10th, 1872.

Respectfully,

BY THE COMMITTEE.

The undersigned hereby express their appreciation of the object above set forth, and recommend that our fellow citizens be liberal in their efforts to insure the success of the enterprise.

MASSILLON, JAN., 1872.

MR. EDITOR:—A highly valued friend writes to me from Columbus, enclosing blank petitions to be signed and presented to the legislature now in session, asking that the law of Ohio be so amended as to strike out the word male wherever it occurs, so as to create a disability upon women, which if granted, would place both sexes on an equality so far as civil rights and duties are concerned. I hope no one will be alarmed at the proposition, for it involves nothing more than giving women the right to vote, the privilege of being voted for and demanding of her the discharge of such public official duties as the people may think proper to demand of her. "Only that and nothing more."

In the same package I received a circular, a copy of which is hereunto appended, setting forth that Miss Jane O. DeForest will lecture here if the proper arrangements can be made, on the subject matter of the petitions introduced by her, known under the euphonious title The Morning Dawns. Miss DeForest, as my letter advises me, will have disposed of her engagements so that she can come here any time after the 19th proximo.

Olive Logan, who is known by her writings in Packard's Monthly and by her outspoken declarations everywhere, to favor woman's suffrage, has just lectured here on Nice Young Men, to the gratification of all who heard her. The American of this city and the Massillon correspondent of the Democrat, as well as the Independent, gave her deserved praise. She had the patronage of the Y M C A, and the success they achieved in bringing her here was highly gratifying. Miss DeForest, although comparativaly new in the lecture field, has won distinction. Her name has been presented to the Y M C A of this city and it is hoped that they will invite her to visit this place.

If it be true, as the title of her lecture would imply, that

"Joeund day stands tip toe on the misty mountain tops," we here in Massillon should enjoy its Aurorad light.

Should the Y M C A decline to patronize her, what can be done to secure us a visit from her? HASWELL.

Without giving the entire notices of the press to which our correspondent alludes, we may state in general terms that this young lady, of Norwalk, O., Miss DeForest, comes highly recommended by the press for strength of argument, purity of sentiment and expression, with graceful delivery and dignified mien—style simple, easy and womanly—in short, that her lecture is a gem of thought, expressed in brilliant and elegant style.—ED.

Petitions are in circulation in this county asking the Ohio legislature to enact a law which seems very reasonable when the object is explained. It is often the case that people suffer loss from the depredations of thieves and burglars, and in their efforts to capture these marauders sometimes heavy expenses are incurred, which many are little able to bear. These petitioners ask that persons losing property, time and money in performing what we may call police duty, should be compensated by the state—that if the violators of law go to the penitentiary and are set at hard labor, the avails of this labor go to the state, and from this source sufferers can be compensated. If this is a proper representation of the idea almost everybody will agree that such a law would be reasonable and just.

Brick Pomeroy says, if New York is not hell itself, the city is located very near that celebrated place, for the average is one murder a day through the year. It looks that way very much. Last Sunday's Herald gives, in detail no less than three homicides—one in which the father takes the life of his son—another love and murder, and another of a more mysterious character. If such things occured daily in some uncivilized country the rest of the world would raise a great fuss over it, and sacrifice great amounts of money to send missionaries to put a stop to the mischief. But here in civilized and Christianized America where thousands of churches and millions of professors abound, why a daily murder in one city is not food for a nine days wonder. Our civilization needs harmonizing badly.

ANOTHER MURDER.

This announcement is made daily from every paper published. Indeed it has become so common that it ceases to attract attention, and only when it occurs in our midst do we consider its full import.

'Stoned to death.' 'Stabbed in a fray,' or 'Shot in a row,' greet us as frequently as changes in the weather. But where do these crimes occur and who are responsible for their frequency? are questions that should interest every community. The majority of them occur in saloons of a low order, where persons of respectability are seldom seen. Yet why does this class of public houses receive such patronage? Did their patrons always visit these places? No. They began in a higher, or more respectable class of saloons; perhaps these were called 'stores,' at least a few groceries, or perhaps a variety of articles occupied the front room or it may be 'Drugs and Medicines' were the chief articles on exhibition. Neither these or groceries do the mischief, or degrade man to the level of the brute. It is that which intoxicates, and sows the seeds of Death, and bears fruit in the murderer.

Ruined in the higher, they seek their level in the lower class of saloon and house of ill fame, and end their days in crimes of the darkest hue

And now who are responsible for these crimes? Are these poor, degraded, drunken and wretched beings who are daily dying of starvation, and drunkenness? Nor is it those who deal in death and poison their victims when once within their iron grasp. No. Then where shall we look for the author of so much crime, misery and death? It is not to be found in the poor, or in the mechanic or day laborer, or in the man of moderate means or influence but it can easily be traced to its legitimate home, viz: to the rich and influential citizen, the moral, or perhaps the religious man. Those who seldom or never use intoxicating liquors, and are seldom or never seen where liquor is sold. This is the class who are responsible for a large portion of the crimes and sins, for the sufferings and privations experienced in this and every other community where such crimes are committed.

We have on the statute book of Ohio a remedy for these evils—a statute law that would most effectually prevent drunkenness and all the miseries and crimes produced by this by this pestilence of social life. This law in the city of Massillon is a dead letter and is of no more force than though its wise provisions had never been framed or had been written on sand and had been obliterated by the first flood tide which swept over its yielding surface. There is but one class in this or any other community that can remedy the evil, and cause our laws to be respected, and our cities and villages freed from this cancer that is destroying the vitality of our religious and moral institution. There is but one class that can drive intemperance, crime and its untold miseries from our midst. That class is the wealthy merchant, banker, broker, or gentleman of leisure. So long as these refuse to lend this aid and influence to establish the majesty of the law so long the cause of these evils will remain undisturbed, and drunkenness crime and murder will continue to meet us at every street corner, and the lives of peaceable citizens rendered unsafe, and friends called to mourn the untimely end of those most dear. These are facts and our wealthy men are moral nonentities. Cyphers without value, and citizens unworthy the name, so far as their moral influence on this subject is concerned. Mr. Editor, I have written these thoughts because I believe them and I am confident many who are willing to act as soon as opportunity presents itself are of the same opinion. T. M. B.

A correspondent, T. M. B., is in decided earnest on the temperance question. The writer places a heavy responsibility on the rich and influential portion of community, but to us it looks as if there are many others who are equally accountable, though we shall not attempt to contradict the position taken by T M B, for the wealthy and influential ought to lead off in all that is good, but they now do, as all history and deservation proves, with very few exceptions.

The Elgin Watch Co., of Illinois, has favored us with a copy of their handsomely printed almanac, for 1872. It is illustrated with extraordinary power—somewhat on the silhouette principle—and gives much valuable information concerning the manufacture of the justly celebrated Elgin Watches.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Wednesday Ev'g, Jan. 24, 1872.

Regular Session—G L Russell presiding Roll Call—Members present, Messrs. Russell, Moog, Rucini, Oberlin, Kirkland, Crone and Willenborg.

Minutes read and approved.

The street commissioner submitted his regular report of work done on streets and alleys for the two weeks ending January 20th, to be $72.87; and amount of poll tax received $14

Mr Willenborg moved that the judiciary committee be instructed to report an ordinance to cause the liquor selling establishments to close at 9 o'clock, p m. Motion prevailed.

On motion of Mr. Russell the judiciary committee were instructed to report an ordinance to prohibit the sliding with hand sleds on the streets or sidewalks within the city limits.

Mr. Moog, moved that the proposition of the county commissioners in reference to the extension of Cherry street, be accepted: viz., That the county will build the bridges if the city builds the road and pay the compensation for the right of way. Motion prevailed.

A petition from Balsar Kretzern and 150 others, asking that a police officer be appointed for the 4th ward, was received, and on motion of Mr. Willenborg was indefinitely postponed.

The following bills was received and referred.

Russell & Beach for sewer pipe, $59,75; referred to street and alley committee.

Massillon Gas Co.,	2 85
John Miller, assisting city engineer,	3 00
John Shepley, do	6 00

There being no further business the council adjourned.

Bro. McKee is a persevering newspaper man. A few weeks ago he disposed of his interest in the Alliance Local, and now he is out again with another new paper, The Telegraph—the half dozenth, or somewhere thereabout that he has started at the cross roads—this time nine columns big—democratic in politics—and it makes a fine appearance—well filled with matters of local interest. No use in trying to crowd Mac out or trample him down, for if such a disaster threatens him he don't go off and die for spite, but sprouts up bigger and fresher than ever. Alliance ought to be well taken care of, having three papers to look after its welfare. Hope Bro. Mac and his co-worker, Bro. Mosgrove, will make their enterprise a success. This makes the 8th paper in Stark county.

On Saturday some thief was so bold as to enter the business office of Myers & Willison and steal two good coats found hanging near the wall—a coat belonging to each member of the firm. These are cold days making coats a necessity, but this style of procuring them is not lawful, and if the perpetrator can be found out it may be a source of trouble, and a residence at Canton may follow.

Mr. R. E. Watson, editor and publisher of the Minerva Commercial, announces in the last number that paper has changed hands, and that the Weaver Bros, of Alliance, are to take possession soon. Mr. W. has made the Commercial a model paper, and we hope the new proprietors will be successful in keeping it up to the standard which, through industry and good management, it has attained.

The United States Senate on Friday last passed a resolution fixing the day of adjournment on May 29th; all the Republican senators but five voting in favor of the resolution. Considerable opposition was manifested by Messrs. Trumbull, Schurtz and Sumner, supported by the democrats, Mr Trumbull being urgent that the senate should not commit itself to adjournment until it had repealed the duty on coal; Mr. Sumner protesting against adjournment before his civil rights bill had been passed. The majority of the senate, however, very properly decided that these special measures must stand on their merits and take their chances along with other matters of even more importance. The definite fixing of the date of adjournment at May 29th will tone congress up to the key of steady and hard work, and admonish the buncomb talkers to cut short their speeches in order that necessary legislation may be accomplished. The work of the session is already so far advanced, especially as to the appropriation bills under the lead of Mr. Garfield, that there is no reason why congress may not finish its work by the date fixed in the Senate's resolution. The House will probably concur.—Leader.

Snow Storms. North, South and West.—On Thursday last they had the severest snow storm at Buffalo and along the lower great lakes and the St Lawrence that they have had there for several years. On the same day they had the coldest weather of the season at New Orleans. Icicles from the rain gathered on the trees and telegraph wires. On the same day they had snow in Savannah, Ga, for the first time in thirteen years. On the same day at Selma, Ala, the weather was intensely cold, and they had their heaviest snow of of the last ten years On the same day, from Omaha, we had the intelligence that, from Cheyenne westward, the Pacific railroad at numerous points is badly blockaded by snow, and that the cold, at some points thirty six degrees below zero, was along the whole line intense. On the same day, in the latitude of the Ohio river, and for hundreds of miles north and south of this line, from the Atlantic westward to the great plains, the skies were bright and the air was sharp and fresh, like that of a dry, dusty, blustering day in March. Yesterday, however, the signal service bureau gave warning that this fair weather for us had nearly run out; and so, we suspect, it will be our turn next for snow, sleet or rain, and perhaps, for all three. After two or three weeks in January of continuous sunshine we may reasonably expect a change.—N. Y. Herald.

ONE MILLION OF LIVES SAVED!

It is one of the remarkable facts of this remarkable age, not merely that so many persons are victims of dyspepia or indigestion, but its willing victims. Now we would not be understood to say that any one regards dyspepsia with favor, or feels disposed to rank it among the luxuries of life. Far from it. Those who have experienced its torments would scout such an idea. All dread it, and would gladly dispense with its unpleasant familiarities. There are diseases more acute and painful, and which more frequently prove fatal; but none, the effects of which are more distressing to the body. If there is a wretched being in the world it is

A CONFIRMED DYSPEPTIC.

But it not our intention to discant on the horrors of dyspepsia. To describe them truthfully is simply an impossibility. We have said that dyspepsia is perhaps the most universal of human diseases. This is emphatically the case in the United States. Whether this general prevalence is due to the character of the food, the method of its preparation, or the hasty manner in which it is usually swallowed, is not our province to explain. The great fact with which we are called to deal is this:

DYSPEPSIA PREVAILS

almost universally.

Nearly every other person you meet is a victim, an apparently willing one; for were this not the case, why so many sufferers, when a certain, speedy and safe remedy is within the reach of all who desire to avail themselves of it? But says a dyspeptic, What is this remedy? to which we reply. This great alleviator of human suffering is almost as widely known as the English language. This acknowledged panacea is none other than

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

Would you know more of the merits of this wonderful medicine than can be learned from the experience of others? Try it yourself, and when it has failed to fulfill the assurance of its efficacy given by the proprietor, then abandon faith in it.

LET IT BE REMEMBERED

first of all, that Hoofland's German Bitters is not a rum beverage.

They are not alcoholic in any sense of the term. They are composed entirely of the pure juice or vital principle of roots. The extracts from which they are compounded are prepared by one of the ablest German chemists. The objections which hold with so much force against preparations of this class, namely—that a desire for intoxicating drinks is stimulated by their use, are not valid in case of the German Bitters. Their effects can be in all cases of the biliary system. Hoofland's German Bitters stand without an equal, acting promptly and vigorously on the liver; they remove its torpidity and cause healthful secretion of the bile. They impart vigor and strength to the entire system, causing the patient to feel like another being—in fact, giving him a new lease of life.

THEY PURIFY THE BLOOD,

cleansing the vital fluid of all hurtful impurities and supplanting them with the elements of genuine healthfulness. In a word, there is scarcely a disease in which they cannot be safely and beneficially employed; but in the generally prevalent distressing and dreaded disease, dyspepsia,

THEY STAND UNRIVALED.

Now, there are certain classes of persons to whom extreme bitters are not only unpalatable, but who find it impossible to take them without positive discomfort. For such has been prepared. It is intended for use where a slight alcoholic stimulant is required. This tonic contains all the ingredients of the bitters, but so flavored as to remove the extreme bitterness.

HOOFLAND'S TONIC

acts with almost marvelous effect. It not only stimulates the flagging and wasting energies, but invigorates and permanently strengthens its action upon the liver and stomach thorough, perhaps less prompt than the Bitters, when the same quality is taken is none the less certain. Indigestion, biliousness; physical or nervous prostration, yield readily to its potent influence. It gives strength to weakness, throws dependency to the winds, and starts the restored invalid upon a new and gladsome career. But Dr. Hoofland's benefactions to the human race are not confined to his celebrated or his invaluable Tonic. He has prepared another medicine, which is rapidly winning its way to popular favor because of its intrinsic merits. This is a perfect substitute for mercury, without any of mercury's evil qualities.

GERMAN BITTERS,

These wonderful pills which are intended to act upon the liver, are mainly composed of Podophyllin, or the VITAL PRINCIPLE OF MANDRAKE ROOT.

Now we desire the reader to distinctly understand that this extract of the Mandrake is many times more powerful than the Mandrake itself. It is the medical virtues of this health giving plant in a perfectly pure and highly concentrated form. Hence it is that two of the Podophyllin pills constitue a full dose, while anywhere six to eight or a handful of other preperations of the Mandrake are required. The Podophyllin stimulating its functions and causing it to make its bilary secretions in regular and proper quantities. The injurious results which invariably follow the use of mercury is entirely avoided by their use.

Possessing desirable qualities, the Podophyllin becomes invaluable as a

FAMILY MEDICINE

No household should be without them. They are perfectly safe, require but two for an ordinary dose are prompt and efficient in action, and when used in connection with Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, or Tonic, may be regarded as certain specifics in all cases of liver complaint dyspepsia, or any of the disorders to which the system is ordinarily subject. The act upon the stomach and bowels, carrying off improper obstructions, while the Bitters or Tonic purify the blood.

FOUTZ'S CELEBRATED

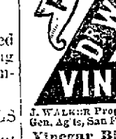
Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.



To Keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to the Wonderful Curative Effects of DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM ALCOHOL — PURELY — D. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA — VINEGAR BITTERS — EUREKA

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Ag'ts, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce st., N.Y.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erisipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

Will all those who Suffer from Consumption or Cough

Please read the following letter from a reliable druggist?

Mt Vernon, Ill., April 29, 1871.

Messrs. J N Harris & Cincinnati, O.

Gentlemen—I heard one of my customers such high terms of Allen's Lung Balsam the day, that I thought I would write his name substance of his statement. He says her, who is now sixty years of age, suffered with consumption for several years, and has been under the care of all our best physicians, but never received any permanent benefit, then she resorted to almost every kind of cough and lung balsam that could be procured for her, but all of no avail. She still grew worse, until she was confinee to her bed; and when she was seized with a paroxysm of coughing, she would lose the power of respiration, and they were compelled to resort to various means to restore breathing; and while she coughed so hard she could not expectorate anything and the family and friends had given up all hopes of her recovery. Her son noticed the advertisement of Allen's Lung Balsam in the Christian Advocate, and they thought they would procure and try it. They commenced giving her the balsam at 5 p m, as directed, a dose every hour until midnight, then she took another spell of coughing, and expectorated a mouthful of dark yellow matter, which was something she had not been able to do for some time. They continued to give her the balsam until morning, and then she began to expectorate freely, and within three hours she had expectorated three pints of mucus matter, which gave her immediate relief, and since that time she has continued to improve. She now sits up all day, and can walk about the house and take considerable out-door exercise. Her son bought more of the balsam to-day, and he is recommending it very highly to every one. Your, respectfully,

A C JOHNSON, Druggist.

Was there ever greater proof of merit than the case this letter refers to?

Allen's Lung Balsam is without doubt the best expectorant remedy ever offered to the afflicted public. It contains no opium in any form, and its use is harmless to the most delicate. Directions accompany each bottle. J N HARRIS & Co Proriotors.

Transforming the Complexion—The transformations produced by Hagan's Magnolia Balm are quite as astonishing as any scene on the stage of a theatre. That famous beautifier, transmutes a sallow, and pecky looking complexion, into one in which the lilly and the rose vie for admiration, and imparts to a dry, harsh skin, the softness of perfect loveliness. Tan and freckles, which country air and sunlight are prety sure to produce, in spite of parasols and sundowns, are completely obliterated by it; while it has a perfectly magical effect in banishing undue redness, blotches and pimples from the skin. When the lady who has used it to remedy her complexional defects looks in the mirror she is astonished and gratified at the improvements in her appearance. Every blemish has disappeard; her neck, face, arms and bosom now rival in whiteness the snowy collar which encircles her throat, her cheek mantles with a peach like bloom, and she is ready to invoke a blessing on the inventor of the article which has wrought such a delightful transformation.

Rev. G. F. Stelling,

OF HARRISBURG,

Will deliver his great Lecture on

To Oregon & Back Again,

in the PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, on

Wednesday, February 7th,

This lecture has elicited universal commendation. Come one, Come all. Tickets 25 cents.

GAS.—Among the institutions of Massillon that is just now specially worthy of note is the gas works. At what time the improvement was first established here we cannot tell, perhaps some twenty years ago; and although limited in size, it proved to be a most useful investment. As we are informed, it was first erected by a company in Philadelphia, to whom it yet belongs. As the city is constantly growing, and as our municipal authorities have decided to have street lamps, the capacity of the works was not adequate to the wants of the place, so it was concluded to erect entirely new, works which should be large enough for a population of perhaps 15,000 or 20,000 people. Accordingly some months ago the erection of two commodious brick buildings was commenced, both of which are now about finished, and both designed to be fire proof, having iron rafters and tile roofs. In the southern building there is room for half a dozen cooking apparatuses, into which coal is thrown, where it is subjected to extreme heat—so hot as to extract the gas from the coal—leaving nothing remaining but coke—a light, porus article which is much used for fuel. It is burned in the furnaces there, making fires hot enough to extract all the gas from the coal. This gas is conducted through a series of strong iron pipes from the south to the north building, where it is subjected to purifying processes by passing through lime and water, to make it burn with a clear light. In this crude state the gas has a large portion of coal tar, a thick, black substance, which in process of distillation is separated from the gas. This tar is used for a variety of purposes, and among others for making printers ink. In this second or refining buildi g there are two apartments the first of which contains four movable vessels with a quantity of lime in each; and through this the gas has to pass in order to attain a certain degree of refinement. This apparatus consisting of four large square boxes, is so ingeniously arranged as to enable the attendants to know when to change the lime because of its impurity, and when the contents of one of these boxes becomes unfit for use another is brought into requisition. Having passed through lime another pipe conducts the gas into a large cylinder, some six or seven feet long, and perhaps four feet in diameter. This cylinder is partly filled with water, and in it the gas is further purified, as we suppose, and in it is a nicely arranged piece of machinery which measures the gas with accuracy. On the end of this cylinder are seven dials, each of which is marked off decimally, after the style of a watch face. A hand or pointer is affixed to each dial, and these hands are constantly moving, while the process of gas-making is in progress. The first dial hand in going once around, which it does in perhaps 60 to 90 seconds, indicates that ten cubic feet of gas has passed through toward the gas holder. The first dial is marked into units or parts of ten, the second tens, the third hundreds, the fourth thousands, the fifth tens of thousands, the sixth into hundreds of thousands, and the seventh into millions. It is very easy to see by looking at these dials just how much gas has passed from one cubic foot up to ten millions. Having gone through all the needed processes of manufacture, the gas enters a large vessel constructed of sheet iron, called a gas holder This vessel is fifty fest in diameter and twenty feet deep, having a capacity for holding about 40,000 cubic feet of gas—a great deal more than Massillon will use in a day. This large gasholder is perfectly air tight, is kept in place by simple devices, and is up side down in a reservoir of water. During the day, when no gas is used, this big vessel is raised up by the accumula ing gas, which is constantly going into it, but can't get out, excepting through pipes that are extended through the streets; and the weight of the gasholder forces the gas to the final burner of each consumer. It may be said of a truth that old Sol furnishes light on the largest scale and cheaper, to us humans, than any other establishment; but he is not always in sight or in a position to shine on us, so the next best thing we can do is to manufacture our own light out of the best material we can procure for that purpose. When gas light is good it is entirely clear and colorless, but it is made out of a very black, opaque substance, which is a great contrast to those agreeable qualities all so much desire in having a good light. The contractor put up the new works for $25,000.

Monday night a man broke into Morganthaler & Breed's grocery with the object of foraging or stealing property. He had taken some money and boxes of cigars, and then made his way into Atwater's warehouse, where he was discovered by the night watch, Mr. Myers, who called Marshal Seaman to his assistance, when the fellow was arrested and placed in the calaboose for safe keeping. Yesterday morning he was taken before Mayor Warner, and sent to Canton jail. The enterprising young man who had this adventure is named Miller, and this is said to not be his first experience, for he has been to Columbus, where there is a fair prospect of his returning and doing the state some service,

Although George Hofacker was a steady, sober, industrious man, as we stated last week, yet, like many others, it was his misfortune to be poor, and for this reason his wife has to have help to get along. Many of our citizens have contributed to aid her in this affliction, and certsinly she should not come to want. But who or what power was it that deprived her of a husband? It was the liquor influence—as the worthy coroner told us on the day of the inquest, "It was the infernal whisky." As this demon was the murderer, and as his agents are becoming enriched by selling liquor, it is they who should pay this unfortunate woman well for the loss of her husband; and if our boasted Ohio law was carried out it would award the woman with heavy damages—not less than $3000 to $5000. Somebody is guilty, and we hope when the trial of the boys comes off the place or places responsible for the murder will be found out and duly attended to.

A Good Thing.—The publishers of the Schoolday Visitor Magazine have asked us to say to all the boys and girls, and grown up people too, for that matter, of our acquaintance, that they will forward to any one who will send them two subscribers to the Visitor, one of their self adjusting pocket microscopes, the price of which alone is $1,50. The Visitor was established in 1856 and is as good as it is old. Send on two subscribers and two dollars, and get the Microscope for your trouble. It is really a good thing. Full particulars in regard to clubs, and specimens of the Visitor will be sent on application to J. W. Daughaday & Co., publishers, 434 and 436 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Some of our exchanges are publishing the following item as the latest news from Massillon. We happen to find it in the Steubenville Gazette—but others have the same. The telegraph, or the types, or both, make out some queer names:

"A fracas occurred last Saturday evening, at Massillon, resulting in the death of George Hopoken, by a stone thrown by Joseph Wellenburgh. A coroner's jury found as above stated, and also that Edward Ballinger was accessory to the fact. The parties were arrested.

Some of the democratic papers affect disgust at much of the fractional currency. It is somethiag of a nuisance, but their leaders started a war to burst the union, and one of the evils resulting is shinplasters. In some respects these 10, 15, 25 and 50 cent peices are nuisances, still none of us are disposed to throw them away.

The Baltimore and Mississippi Road has reduced its fare 25 per cent. Is it not time that other roads followed this example? They would be well paid in the increase of custom. Four cents a mile is too much, and some of them charge that for short distances.

Out of the jaws of death.—Throw off that despondent spirit, crush that feeling of despair, be cheerful, happy and well. Take Simmons' Liver Regulator—it is no humbug, its virtues can be proven by hundreds right here at home. Examine the certificates. It has cured the worst cases of dropsy, dyspepsia, and prevents chills, fever, &c.

That numerous class of people who have to move once a year have commenced looking out for new places of residence, and very probably many have made arrangements to secure a local habitation on the first of the Fourth month.

S. R. Wells' Illustrated Annual of Phrenology and Physiology for 1872 is a book of 72 pages. To the inquirer after knowledge concerning humans this little work comprehends a fund of information, just such as is adapted to any or all who would avail themselves of it. A large number of illustrations add to its value, and especially a series of portraits of eminent ministers of the Disciple denomination. For sale by news dealers —25 cents.

Last week we had rather pleasant winter weather—little snow—no rain—sunshine—moonshine, and other variations—but Sunday night a regular nor wester blew a vigorous breath—the mercury fell, and Monday morning it was four to six degrers below zero, and cold all day.

Since the murder in Kendall—sometimes called the bloody fourth—some of the orderly and timid people there are anxious to have a night police, or some sort of protection This is very natural, and not at all unreasonable, though we don't expect the request will meet with favor from our authorities. It seems to us that the best protection the good people there can ask is security from the effects of their own and other grogshops. Other troubles may afflict them, but they are small annoyances compared with the curse of liquor. If Kendall was altogether a strictly temperan e community—and Massillon the same—our city would seldom, if ever, rest under the ban of reproof for such misdeeds as the recent homicide. As long as matters are permitted to go on as they have been, no surprise may be expressed at similar bloody acts.

C Harry Frank gave an entertainment of Shakespearean readings last evening in the Opera House to a small but appreciative audience.

On Tuesday evening next the Germans have a ball at Richheimers Hall, a very pleasant place for such entertainments. The Frohsein, a German singing band, meets in that hall Monday evenings, and enjoy themselves with vocal and instrumental music, having a fine piano.

Massillon, January 23, 1872. 442

Andrew J. Graham, 563 Broadway, N. Y., has just begun the publication of a new monthly paper, the Students' Journal, $1, devoted to phonography, music, hygiene, philology, calligraphy, biography, &c. Mr G is among the standard American authors in works connected with phongraphy, and has published several books, explanatory of this useful art. The contents of No. 1 embraces a large amount of information on the various subjects to which it is devoted, and is well worthy the patronage of all who would advance toward perfection this branch of human knowledge. Phonography, or writing and spelling by sound, was first used in England by Ben Pitman, in 1837. Mr Graham claims to have improved Pitman's system, and so adapted it as to meet the wants of all in that style of writing. It is the only system of reporting in common use.

The Tribune Almanac for 1872 is about the thirty fifth issue of that now indispensable annual—indispensable to every man who would be posted in general information as to the most important facts concerning our nation. Filling something more than 80 pages of condensed matter it embodies enough material to constitute a fair sized book, yet its facts are clear and comprehensible to all who pay attention to their teachings Of course the regular almanac is there and in addition there are the laws of congress, president's proclamations, national finances, general statistics, political statistics, and full election returns for 1871. All this matter, in authentic form, can be had for 20 cents. The political record of this almanac for more than one third of a century is now standard authority, and the fortunate possessor of the series has a library of information. Sold everywhere.

Yesterday evening the streets presented a city like appearance as the lamps were all lit up. This is a most acceptable improvement over what we have had.

Since the last murder which occurred in this vicinity there are many indications of an awakened interest, by many people for taking some measures to promote the cause of a temperance orgarization is in our midst whose business it is to labor to put a stop to intemperance. but its numbers, influence and means are very limited. We suggest that all who feel like co operating with this association to join it—help it by your means to work in behalf of a good cause, Or if the present organization is not satisfactory get up one that is, and go to work in earnest; In other places where the Good Templars are properly aided they are a power for good and can be here if encouraged by all who ought to assist. Many say by their acts, It dont hurt us, therefore we will have nothing to do in this business. That class dont talk in such style when a thief comes along and steels a neighbors horse. Then they are wide awake to catch the thief and do what they can to punish him to the utmost True, none of these may have lost a horse or a house, still they feel that their property is imperilled, and don't know but their turn to suffer will soon come. But in the case to which reference is here is made, the crimes of theft or arson are comparatively trivial for the assassin of the good name of community as well as of the lives of our citizens is at full liberty to roam at large and deal death and desolation with an unsparing hand. His permission is to sell the murderous liquid, but it seems not to be the business of a large class of community to interfere and put a stop to their nefarious work Let such beware—they dont know who may be the next victim.

A Beautiful woman. The perceptive faculty of woman is usually keener than the same phrenological organ in men. Women know that beauty rather than genius is worshipped by the sterner sex. A man may talk of the latter to his lady love, but the keenness of the woman knows that he is thinking of the former. Women are fond of admiration; hence one of their longings is to be beautiful. The grand secret of female beauty is health, the power to eat, digest and assimilate a proper quantity of wholesome food. Take Vinegar Bitters. It will cleanse the stomach, tone the vital organs, give a perfect digestion, purify the blood, clear up the complexion and produce a state of mental and phisical electricity, which gives symmetry of form, bright eyes, white skin, glossy hair and a genuine type of female loveliness, which no cosmetic can produce. 4w

The National Standard, an eight page monthly, and one of the best of papers, is fully up the times in matters of reform—especially on temperance, equal rights, woman suffrage, and all cognate movements. Mr A H Powell, editor and publisher (N, Y); is very judicious in his make up of contents of this paper.

Jan. 31 Pittsburg, Pa.

To those who are bowed down by nervous debility, and despair of ever recovering the vigor and vim of manhood we earnestly recommend Dr. Walkers California Vinegar Bitters. Before they have finished the first bottle, they will feel the restorative principle at work in every portion of their broken down systems and hope will spring up in their hearts, No case of dyspepsia, intermittent fever, or kidney diseases, can resist this unequalled vegetable tonic which is unpolluted by any distilled or fermented liquor. 444 4w

PLANTATION BITTERS.

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which all women especially subject, it is superceding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. 444-1y

Beautiful Woman!

Hagan's Magnolia Balm gives the Complexion the freshness of youth.

Hagan's Magnolia Balm overcomes the flushed appearance caused by heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes the lady of forty appear but twenty, and so natural and perfect that no person can detect its application. By its use the roughest skin is made to rival the pure, radiant texture of youthful beauty. It removes redness, blotches, and pimples. It contains nothing that will injure the skin in the least. Magnolia Balm is used by all fashionable ladies in N York, London and Paris. It costs only 75 cents a bottle, and is sold by all druggists and dealers. 445 1y

NOTICE.

A petition will be presented to the commissioners of Stark country, at their March session, praying for the location of a County road in Perry township, running as follows: Commencing at the south end of a certain street in West Massillon, now laid out, and lying between lots No. 21, 29 and 30 of an amicable partition of certain lands made by W S Wetmore, R S Fay; and the executors of Amos Birney, deceased, Oct. 17th, A D 1848, of which the map or plat, together with a memorandum of the same is recorded in the records of Stark Co., O., and to which reference is here made for more particular discription; and running thence along the line of a private road now laid out through the lands of Thomas McCullough, Isaac Steese and Kent J Chase, and, from the terminus of said private road, by the best and most practicable route until it connects with a county road running through lands owned by John G Warwick.

Transforming the Complexion—The transformations produced by Hagan's Magnolia Balm are quite as astonishing as any scene on the stage of a theatre. That famous beautifier, transmutes a sallow, and pecky looking complexion, into one in which the lilly and the rose vie for admiration, and imparts to a dry, harsh skin, the softness of perfect loveliness. Tan and freckles, which country air and sunlight are prety sure to produce, in spite of parasols and sundowns, are completely obliterated by it; while it has a perfectly magical effect in banishing undue redness, blotches and pimples from the skin. When the lady who has used it to remedy her complexional defects looks in the mirror she is astonished and gratified at the improvements in her appearance. Every blemish has disappeard; her neck, face, arms and bosom now rival in white. ness the snowy collar which encircles her throat, her cheek mantles with a peach like bloom, and she is ready to invoke a blessing on the inventor of the article which has wrought such a delightful transformation.

Avert the Evil.—If mothers would give Mrs Whitcomb's sprup to their children when sick, mortality would be less among them. Only 25 cents.

Rev. G. F. Stelling,

OF HARRISBURG,

Will deliver his great Lecture on

To Oregon & Back Again,

in the PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, on Wednesday, February 7th.

This lecture has elicited universal commendation. Come one, Come all. Tickets 25 cents.

GAS.—Among the institutions of Massillon that is just now specially worthy of note is the gas works. At what time the improvement was first established here we cannot tell, perhaps some twenty years ago; and although limited in size, it proved to be a most useful investment. As we are informed, it was first erected by a company in Philadelphia, to whom it yet belongs. As the city is constantly growing, and as our municipal authorities have decided to have street lamps, the capacity of the works was not adequate to the wants of the place, so it was concluded to erect entirely new, works which should be large enough for a population of perhaps 15,000 or 20,000 people. Accordingly some months ago the erection of two commodious brick buildings was commenced, both of which are now about finished, and both designed to be fire proof, having iron rafters and tile roofs. In the southern building there is room for half a dozen cooking apparatuses, into which coal is thrown, where it is subjected to extreme heat—so hot as to extract the gas from the coal—leaving nothing remaining but coke—a light, porus article which is much used for fuel. It is burned in the furnaces there, making fires hot enough to extract all the gas from the coal. This gas is conducted through a series of strong iron pipes from the south to the north building, where it is subjected to purifying processes by passing through lime and water, to make it burn with a clear light. In this crude state the gas has a large portion of coal tar, a thick, black substance, which in process of distillation is separated from the gas. This tar is used for a variety of purposes, and among others for making printers ink. In this second or refining building there are two apartments the first of which contains four movable vessels with a quantity of lime in each; and through this the gas has to pass in order to attain a certain degree of refinement. This apparatus consisting of four large square boxes, is so ingeniously arranged as to enable the attendants to know when to change the lime because of its impurity, and when the contents of one of these boxes becomes unfit for use another is brought into requisition. Having passed through lime another pipe conducts the gas into a large cylinder, some six or seven feet long, and perhaps four feet in diameter. This cylinder is partly filled with water, and in it the gas is further purified, as we suppose, and in it is a nicely arranged piece of machinery which measures the gas with accuracy. On the end of this cylinder are seven dials, each of which is marked off decimally, after the style of a watch face. A hand or pointer is affixed to each dial, and these hands are constantly moving, while the process of gas-making is in progress. The first dial hand in going once around, which it does in perhaps 60 to 90 seconds, indicates that ten cubic feet of gas has passed through toward the gas holder. The first dial is marked into units or parts of ten, the second tens, the third hundreds, the fourth thousands, the fifth tens of thousands, the sixth into hundreds of thousands, and the seventh into millions. It is very easy to see by looking at these dials just how much gas has passed from one cubic foot up to ten millions. Having gone through all the needed processes of manufacture, the gas enters a large vessel constructed of sheet iron, called a gas holder. This vessel is fifty fest in diameter and twenty feet deep, having a capacity for holding about 40,000 cubic feet of gas—a great deal more than Massillon will use in a day. This large gasholder is perfectly air tight, is kept in place by simple devices, and is up side down in a reservoir of water. During the day, when no gas is used, this big vessel is raised up by the accumulating gas, which is constantly going into it, but can't get out, excepting through pipes that are extended through the streets; and the weight of the gasholder forces the gas to the final burner of each consumer. It may be said of a truth that old Sol furnishes light on the largest scale and cheaper, to us humans, than any other establishment; but he is not always in sight or in a position to shine on us, so the next best thing we can do is to manufacture our own light out of the best material we can procure for that purpose. When gas light is good it is entirely clear and colorless, but it is made out of a very black, opaque substance, which is a great contrast to those agreeable qualities all so much desire in having a good light. The contractor put up the new works for $25,000.

Monday night a man broke into Morganthaler & Breed's grocery with the object of foraging or stealing property. He had taken some money and boxes of cigars, and then made his way into Atwater's warehouse, where he was discovered by the night watch, Mr. Myers, who called Marshal Seaman to his assistance, when the fellow was arrested and placed in the calaboose for safe keeping. Yesterday morning he was taken before Mayor Warner, and sent to Canton jail. The enterprising young man who had this adventure is named Miller, and this is said to not be his first experience, for he has been to Columbus, where there is a fair prospect of his returning and doing the state some service,

Although George Hofacker was a steady, sober, industrious man, as we stated last week, yet, like many others, it was his misfortune to be poor, and for this reason his wife has to have help to get along. Many of our citizens have contributed to aid her in this affliction, and certainly she should not come to want. But who or what power was it that deprived her of a husband? It was the liquor influence—as the worthy coroner told us on the day of the inquest, "It was the infernal whisky." As this demon was the murderer, and as his agents are becoming enriched by selling liquor, it is they who should pay this unfortunate woman well for the loss of her husband; and if our boasted Ohio law was carried out it would award the woman with heavy damages—not less than $3000 to $5000. Somebody is guilty, and we hope when the trial of the boys comes off the place or places responsible for the murder will be found out and duly attended to.

A Good Thing.—The publishers of the Schoolday Visitor Magazine have asked us to say to all the boys and girls, and grown up people too, for that matter, of our acquaintance, that they will forward to any one who will send them two subscribers to the Visitor, one of their self adjusting pocket microscopes, the price of which alone is $1,50. The Visitor was established in 1856 and is as good as it is old. Send on two subscribers and two dollars, and get the Microscope for your trouble. It is really a good thing. Full particulars in regard to clubs, and specimens of the Visitor will be sent on application to J. W. Daugbaday & Co., publishers, 434 and 436 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Some of our exchanges are publishing the following item as the latest news from Massillon. We happen to find it in the Steubenville Gazette—but others have the same. The telegraph, or the types, or both, make out some queer names:

"A fracas occurred last Saturday evening, at Massillon, resulting in the death of George Hopoken, by a stone thrown by Joseph Wellenburgh. A coroner's jury found as above stated, and also that Edward Billinger was accessory to the fact. The parties were arrested.

Some of the democratic papers affect disgust at much of the fractional currency. It is something of a nuisance, but their leaders started a war to burst the union, and one of the evils resulting is shinplasters. In some respects these 10, 15, 25 and 50 cent peices are nuisances, still none of us are disposed to throw them away.

The Baltimore and Mississippi Road has reduced its fare 25 per cent. Is it not time that other roads followed this example? They would be well paid in the increase of custom. Four cents a mile is too much, and some of them charge that for short distances.

Out of the jaws of death.—Throw off that despondent spirit, crush that feeling of despair, be cheerful, happy and well. Take Simmons' Liver Regulator—it is no humbug, its virtues can be proven by hundreds right here at home. Examine the certificates. It has cured the worst cases of dropsy, dyspepsia, and prevents chills, fever, &c.

That numerous class of people who have to move once a year have commenced looking out for new places of residence, and very probably many have made arrangements to secure a local habitation on the first of the Fourth month.

S. R. Wells' Illustrated Annual of Phrenology and Physiology for 1872 is a book of 72 pages. To the inquirer after knowledge concerning humans this little work comprehends a fund of information, just such as is adapted to any or all who would avail themselves of it. A large number of illustrations add to its value, and especially a series of portraits of eminent ministers of the Disciple denomination. For sale by news dealers—25 cents.

Last week we had rather pleasant winter weather—little snow—no rain—sunshine—moonshine, and other variations—but Sunday night a regular nor wester blew a vigorous breath—the mercury fell, and Monday morning it was four to six degrers below zero, and cold all day.

Since the murder in Kendall—sometimes called the bloody fourth—some of the orderly and timid people there are anxious to have a night police, or some sort of protection. This is very natural, and not at all unreasonable, though we don't expect the request will meet with favor from our authorities. It seems to us that the best protection the good people there can ask is security from the effects of their own and other grogshops. Other troubles may afflict them, but they are small annoyances compared with the curse of liquor. If Kendall was altogether a strictly temperance community—and Massillon the same—our city would seldom, if ever, rest under the ban of reproof for such misdeeds as the recent homicide. As long as matters are permitted to go on as they have been, no surprise may be expressed at similar bloody acts.

C Harry Frank gave an entertainment of Shakespearean readings last evening in the Opera House to a small but appreciative audience.

On Tuesday evening next the Germans have a ball at Richheimer's Hall, a very pleasant place for such entertainments. The Frohsein, a German singing band, meets in that hall Monday evenings, and enjoy themselves with vocal and instrumental music, having a fine piano.

McLain, Dangler & Co.

Massillon, January 23, 1872. 442

Andrew J. Graham, 563 Broadway, N. Y., has just began the publication of a new monthly paper, the Students' Journal, $1, devoted to phonography, music, hygiene, philology, calligraphy, biography, &c. Mr G is among the standard American authors in works connected with phongraphy, and has published several books, explanatory of this useful art. The contents of No. 1 embraces a large amount of information on the various subjects to which it is devoted, and is well worthy the patronage of all who would advance toward perfection this branch of human knowledge. Phonography, or writing and spelling by sound, was first used in England by Ben Pitman, in 1837. Mr Graham claims to have improved Pitman's system, and so adapted it as to meet the wants of all in that style of writing. It is the only system of reporting in common use.

The Tribune Almanac for 1872 is about the thirty fifth issue of that now indispensable annual—indispensable to every man who would be posted in general information as to the most important facts concerning our nation. Filling something more than 80 pages of condensed matter, it embodies enough material to constitute a fair sized book, yet its facts are clear and comprehensible to all who pay attention to their teachings. Of course the regular almanac is there and in addition there are the laws of congress, president's proclamations, national finances, general statistics, political statistics, and full election returns for 1871. All this matter, in authentic form, can be had for 20 cents. The political record of this almanac for more than one third of a century is now standard authority, and the fortunate possessor of the series has a library of information. Sold everywhere.

Yesterday evening the streets presented a city like appearance as the lamps were all lit up. This is a most acceptable improvement over what we have had.

Since the last murder which occurred in this vicinity there are many indications of an awakened interest, by many people for taking some measures to promote the cause of a temperance orgarization is in our midst whose business it is to labor to put a stop to intemperance, but its numbers, influence and means are very limited. We suggest that all who feel like co operating with this association to join it—help it by your means to work in behalf of a good cause. Or if the present organization is not satisfactory get up one that is, and go to work in earnest; In other places where the Good Templars are properly aided they are a power for good and can be here if encouraged by all who ought to assist. Many say by their acts, It dont hurt us, therefore we will have nothing to do in this business. That class dont talk in such style when a thief comes along and steels a neighbors horse. Then they are wide awake to catch the thief and do what they can to punish him to the utmost. True, none of these may have lost a horse or a house, still they feel that their property is imperilled, and don't know but their turn to suffer will soon come. But in the case to which reference is here is made, the crimes of theft or arson are comparatively trivial for the assassin of the good name of community as well as of the lives of our citizens is at full liberty to roam at large and deal death and desolation with an unsparing hand. His permission is to sell the murderous liquid, but it seems not to be the business of a large class of community to interfere and put a stop to their nefarious work. Let such beware—they dont know who may be the next victim.

A Beautiful woman. The perceptive faculty of woman is usually keener than the same phrenological organ in men. Women know that beauty rather than genius is worshipped by the sterner sex. A man may talk of the latter to his lady love, but the keenness of the woman knows that he is thinking of the former. Women are fond of admiration; hence one of their longings is to be beautiful. The grand secret of female beauty is health, the power to eat, digest and assimilate a proper quantity of wholesome food. Take Vinegar Bitters. It will cleanse the stomach, tone the vital organs, give a perfect digestion, purify the blood, clear up the complexion and produce a state of mentat and phisical electricity, which gives symmetry of form, bright eyes, white skin, glossy hair and a genuine type of female loveliness, which no cosmetic can produce. 4w

The National Standard, an eight page monthly, and one of the best of papers, is fully up the times in matters of reform—especially on temperance, equal rights, woman suffrage, and all cognate movements. Mr A H Powell, editor and publisher (N, Y) is very judicious in his make up of contents of this paper.

To those who are bowed down by nervous debilty, and despair of ever recovering the vigor and mien of manhood we earnestly recommend Dr. Walkers California Vinegar Bitters. Before they have finished the first bottle, they will feel the restorative principle at work in every portion of their broken down systems and hope will spring up in their hearts. No case of dyspepsia, intermittent fever, or kidney diseases, can resist this unequalled vegetable tonic which is unpolluted by any distilled or fermented liquor. 444 4w

PLANTATION BITTERS.

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which all women especially subject, it is superceding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. 444-1y

Beautiful Woman!

Hagan's Magnolia Balm gives the Complexion the freshness of youth.

Hagan's Magnolia Balm overcomes the flushed appearance caused by heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes the lady of forty appear but twenty, and so natural and perfect that no person can detect its application. By its use the roughest skin is made to rival the pure, radiant texture of youthful beauty. It removes redness, blotches, and pimples. It contains nothing that will injure the skin in the least. Magnolia Balm is used by all fashionable ladies in N York, London and Paris. It cost's only 75 cents a bottle, and is sold by all druggists and dealers. 445 1y

NOTICE.

A petition will be presented to the commissioners of Stark country, at their March session, praying for the location of a County road in Perry township, running as follows: Commencing at the south end of a certain street in West Massillon, now laid out, and lying between lots No. 21, 29 and 30 of an amicable partition of certain lands made by W S Wetmore, R S Fay, and the executors of Amos Birney, deceased, Oct. 17th, A D 1848, of which the map or plat, together with a memorandum of the same is recorded in the records of Stark Co., O., and to which reference is here made for more particular discription, and running thence along the line of a private road now laid out through the lands of Thomas McCullough, Isaac Steese and Kent J Chase, and, from the terminus of said private road, by the best and most practicable route until it connects with a county road running through lands owned by John G Warwick.

A Scotch clergyman thought his people were making insignificant objections to his using a manuscript in delivering a sermon. They urged, 'What gars ye tak up your bit papers to the pu'pit?' He replied that it was best, for really he could not remember his sermons, and must have his paper. 'Weel, weel, minister, then dinna expect that we can remember them.

A correspondent in Brazil describes the kind of pets they have in that country. He says: 'It is quite convenient to have anacondas in the cellars to destroy rats and mice. People do not generally have the largest sized snakes for that purpos: they are only from ten to twelve feet long, and are seldom seen, as they live in the wall of the cellar, which is very little used. They are carried about the streets and sold to those who have lost their pet reptile, or whoever may chance to need them. Monkeys, generally of small size, are kept as pets in the houses, but to prevent their mischief they are necessarily chained. The Fatigue of Washing Day no longer dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting. It is always ready for use! It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly. One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing thoroughly! In a word, the ablution of any fabric, from a quilt to a lace curtain or cambric handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the Little Gem! It can be fastened to any tub and taken off at will.

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleansing efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detector at once become fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and loud sounding advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper, and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

All that is asked for this great labor saver, is a fair trial. We guarantee each machine to do its work perfectly. Sole agents for the United States,

THE IMPROVED AMERICAN

Button-Hole, Overseaming,

—AND—

Complete Sewing Machine.

The first and only Button-hole and Sewing machine combined that has made its advent in this or any other country.

The following reasons are given why this is the best

Family Machine to Purchase

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do, sewing from the finest to the coarsest material, hemming, felling, cording, braiding, binding, gathering and sewing on at the same time, ruffling, quilting, &c, better than any other machine.
2. Because the tensions are more easily adjusted than any other machine
3. Because it can make a beautiful button hole, making as fine a pearl as by hand.
4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment.
5. Because it will make a beautiful eyelet hole
6. Because it can do overhand seaming, by which sheets, pillow cases, and the like are sewed over and over.
7. Because you can quickly raise or lower the feed to adapt it to thick or thin cloth.
8. Because you have a short deep bobbin by which the thread is constantly drawn from the center; the tension is consequently even and does not break the thread.
9. Because the presser foot turns back; that the cloth can be easily removed after being sewed.
10. Because the best mechanics pronounce it the best finished and made on the best principle of any machine manufactured.
11. Because it has a better shuttle than any other machine.
12. Because it runs easier and quieter than any other heavy machine.
13. Because it is two machines in one—a button hole working and sewing machine combined.

It is to last a lifetime, and therefore one is wanted that will do the most work, and do it the best, and this machine can do several kinds of sewing not done on any other machine, besides doing every kind that all others can do.

The American or Plain Sewing Machine

Is a beautiful family and light manufacturing machine, possessing all the superior qualities of the combined machine, except making button holes and overseaming. In all other respects the principal of construction is the same.

These Machines are Warranted.
